OUR SENIOR YEAR

The opening of the 1942-43 school term found thirty-two seniors trudging their way toward the portals of W.H.S. Some were trying to appear dignified and worldly-wise while others with a "let's get it over with" attitude, greeted old friends and inspected new teachers.

The second week of school, we seniors gave the freshmen their initial initiation into the secondary school system. The "green" freshmen boys were compelled to wear excess make-up on their faces, eat onions and wear onions and garlic around their necks as ornaments. If odor has any power, the "freshies" were off to a 'strong' start. The freshmen girls wore 'abbreviated' costumes and their hair hung in pigtails. Glamour wasn't the word to describe these young lassies. To climax the freshmen's entrance to our high school, we entertained them with a party in the gymnasium on Friday night.

Since we were upperclassmen, we felt we were entitled to a day of recreation while our other lower classmates remained in school. A self declared holiday ~~while~~ others have to work, always seems more enjoyable. In the morning of this particular October "Skip Day", the senior boys went hunting. They say they hunted for squirrels but we wonder? All of our class and our sponsor attended the show, "Gone with the Wind", that afternoon in Pittsburgh.

The last of November, Weir High had its annual school carnival. The event of great interest connected with the carnival each year is the "Popularity Queen Contest". Our senior representative, Gloria Kelso, won this honor.

Our class pictures were taken early in the fall and from the results, we either had a very good photographer or we just photograph well. Who knows, we might be new Hollywood material waiting to be "discovered". One of our class Romeos liked a certain senior girl's picture so much that he ordered and paid for one of her for his 'very own'.

December was an eventful month for the seniors. We received our class rings about the first of the month of our class play, "Miss Smarty" was presented on December the seventeenth.

The cast was as follows:

Janice Burbank	Lillys Wisby
Professor Erasmus Eberfield:	Darrel Mishler
Pleasant Hickey.	Gloria Kelso
Elizabeth Smart.	Betty Simone
Shelley Smart.	Jack Cote
Brant Robson	Jack Donahoe
Morton Gordon.	John Dea Hartman
"Swifty" Trent	Danny Schuburger
Virginia Stearns	Mary Louise Bernardi
Dodie Balmer	Kate Kelso
Helene Westfield	Mary Katherine Hardesty
Ilka Crawley	Thadene Blair

After the play, the cast had a party. Everyone got enough to eat that night; how about it boys?

The Yuletide season came quickly and with it, two weeks and two days vacation.

Semester Tests! "Midnight Oil" was burned by some conscientious students; others wished they had crammed a little when they received their grades. With these terrible nightmares over, we began our last semester of our high school career. Our invitations were ordered and we were measured for our caps and gowns so most of us must be going to reach our aim---graduation!

The Juniors have promised us a banquet if priorities don't interfere with the purchase of enough food to feed a class with a good appetite. They could feed two certain senior boys cocoa----they often had a contest between themselves to see which could consume the most.

Mary Louise Bernardi won the Annual Queen Contest. Because of her salesmanship, Mary once again has brought honor to our class. "Queen Mary", we the senior class salute you!

Last semester tests for seniors will be given May the sixth and the seventh. We hope we all pass! Baccalaureate is May the ninth and our Commencement is May the twelfth.

Memories Memories of pals, of classmates, jokes, stunts, in fact everything we have done together will never completely fade away but will be recalled from time to time as we journey through the years. Friends will drift apart but memories will still remain.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of Weir High being of sound mind and memory, do make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament, in manner and form as follows:

To Thelma Hitchcock, Mary L. Bernardi leaves her sophomore heart throb.

To Gene Will, John Dea Hartman wills his attraction to blondes.

To Lorene Stark, her sister Mary, wills the back seat in all study halls.

To Colleen Fesler, Thadene Blair wills her dimples and position in the office.

To Alfred Graham, Bobby Hubbard wills his ability as basketball coach.

To the Weir grade school, Lillys Misty wills her torn up love letters to be put together as jig saw puzzles.

To Jack Bolinger, Danny Schuberg wills his quick temper.

To Betty Atkinson, Gloria Kelso leaves her unique giggle.

To Betty Jean Scott, Kate Kelso wills her gift of gab.

To Velma Lois Mason, Betty Simone wills her ability to "roll 'em eyes"!

To Lily Mishler, Lorene Kruse leaves a few inches of height.

To Fuddy Atkinson, Jack Cote bequeaths his ability to quote nonsensical sayings.

To the U. S. Navy, Joyce Vineyard reluctantly wills her blonde boy friend.

To Billy Daniels, Frank McClure leaves his cowboy boots and western cow pony.

To Francis Curtis, Jack Donahoe wills his eight cups of cocoa.

To the three Junior Musketeers, Melvin Vineyard wills his Chevrolet and his H gasoline book.

To the U. S. government weather bureau, Irma Mae Fudge wills her blonde hair (needed for precision instruments).

To Clarence Scott, Darrel Mishler wills his A-1 reclassification card.

To Wilma Dugger, Doloris McClean leaves all her ex-infatuation for a certain post-graduate.

To future W.H.S. "wolves", Glen Duncan and Charlie Ross leave the extra accessories on their V-8's.

To the future shorthand students, Virgil Sullivan and Roy Scott will their stenographic ability.

To James Simone, Thomas Coles wills his blonde hair and ability to grow a beard.

To Tud Johnson, Vernon "Man Mountain" Curtis leaves his superman physique.

Bill and Dale Mason leave rules and suggestions to the future "wolves" of Weir Hi on the subject, "How to Win a Lady's Heart."

To Clarence Scott, Bob Bliss wills his talkativeness.

Donna Larson wills to the girls of Weir Hi, the ability to capture men's hearts.

To Bill Johnson, Kansas Christian wills his broom and N.Y. A. position as janitor.

To Bill Alex Young, Andrew Anderson wills his height and broad shoulders.

To Mary Washington, Nora Harris leaves her daily stick of gum and the question "Why?"

To Norma Young, Clarence Ticeson wills his ability to "Tickle the Ivories."

To our teachers who have helped us through high school we will all you future success.

To the seniors of next year, we bequeath any notes, pencils, or chewing gum found anywhere in the building.

Witness our hand and seal on this fourteenth day of May in this year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and forty three.

CLASS PROPHECY

Jan. 7, 1943
Weir, Kansas

Dear Mrs. Shrader:

You know, New Year's Eve I was playing our radio television set, and what do you think? I saw and heard every one of our old acquaintances, the senior class of 1943! So I thought I would write and tell you of them.

First there was the commercial, vividly acted and read by Mary Louise Bernardi. She was such a good saleslady, that I went right out and bought a bottle of "Gurgle-Gurgle-Goo" baby powder, her rivals product.

Then there was the music of "J. D. and his Jumpin' Jive," known by us as our old friend, John Dea Hartman. Now the Master of Ceremonies took over, The Little A'ner of the Airlanes, Jack Cote. Oh yes, he still has the same distorted sense of humor he had in school.

Now this was a quiz program, something like the old "Double or Nothing" program we listened to way back then. They asked each contestant his occupation, so I got a pretty good chance to get the facts on what our old classmates were doing. The first one was John Kilger Eugene Donohoe, who was a pilot of a B19. Next was Commander and Mrs. Thomas R. Coles. Tommy may be Commander in Chief of the U.S. Navy, but he missed his question. Mrs. Coles, whom I recognized as the former Joyce Vineyard gave the correct answer to a question about "How to hold your husband."

Then there was Melvin Vineyard, who as his occupation gave: "demonstrating tractors." I thought perhaps he got his start by demonstrating one to Grace Harding.

Now we were treated to a delightful intermission with a son, by Camille Pommedeteere, whom I recognized in a glance as Betty Simone. First after the song, which received prolonged applause, was the former Mary stark, now a housewife, and also, she added, the mother of 12 healthy children.

Then there was Thadene Blair who is a private secretary. When asked about her boss it appeared that it was Victor Naturel. Next was Sergeant Darrel Mishler, of the U. S. Marines. He was followed by Robert Hubbard, a hard working husband. In the background appeared Carol Turpin, keeping a watchful eye on "Hump."

Next there was quite a celebrity, Danny Schuberg, coach of the Weir, Kansas basketball team, which has won four straight state tournaments. As his companion there was Gloria Kelso, Dean of Women of K.S.T.C.

And who do you think was next? It was Kathryn Kelso, editor of "Advice to the Lovelorn" column in the New York Daily Mirror! Next on the list was Mrs. Henry McLean-Brown, wife of a prosperous farmer. Then there was Charles Ross, part owner of "Ross, Ross, and Ross Modern Laundry."

We were then entertained by Roy Scott and Virgil Sullivan, two well known cowboy romeos, stars from Warner Brothers.

I was surprised to see Andrew Anderson, who was introduced as the leading expert on first-aid in this nation. With him was his secretary, Nora Harris. As always Andrew was slow but sure.

Now a big burley man strode upon the stage. He was introduced as Vernon Curtis, "The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man." My, has he changed! With him was the leading society debutante, Lorene Kruse-Rockefeller.

Then there was Clarence Ticeson and Kansas Christian owners and operators of the leading car wrecking shop in New York. Immediately after, by way of contrast, came the famous Irma Mae Fudge, recently chosen the "Platinum Blonde Queen of the Airlanes." Then there was Franklin McClure, who adds with a touch of Texas in his talk, "I'm owner and head cowpuncher of a 10,000 acre ranch."

Next was a career woman, Mrs. Albert Cherne, whom you will remember as Lillys Wisty. After her came Bill and Dale Mason, who reluctantly admitted they were teaching a night course in "How to tell if a man is part wolf."

Next was Bob Eliss, who is still a bachelor, but his little address book is still filled with girls names.

Then there was Glen Duncan. He has worked himself to the head of the Parsons Defense Plant, which is engaged in manufacturing dud bombs. Last, and least was Frank Kukovich, who claimed to be the world's largest midget.

Well, that was all our classmates, I expect you're pretty tired reading my gossip so I'll sign off.

A former student,

Billy J. Howland

P.S. Oh, yes, I have just been made "Dr. Gillespie's New Assistant."

(Overtime)

The Weir Wildcats, under the able tutelage of "Coach Harley King", have enjoyed one of the most successful seasons in the record of Weir High School.

Highlights in the Weir season were the Wildcats 31-24 victory over a potent Columbus team and a 23-22 victory over Arcadia in the finals of the Regional Tournament. This victory over Arcadia gave Weir the right to enter the State Tournament at Eureka. Although the Wildcats were defeated in the first round of this tourney, they made a fine showing but went down to defeat 30-29 in an overtime game.

Prospects for next season are bright as six lettermen will return. The following boys will be lost by graduation: Cote, Schuburger, Donahoe, and Hartman.

Dear Tommy:

We will always be thinking about you about being an admiral, well here's hoping that some day you really are. I'll probably be in there soon.

Good Luck.

Dear Tommy: The navy has been my special interest for quite sometime. I hope you get to see the fleet you make it a better one. Tommy will be soon
all hope it will be soon.
Your sincerely
Wittie teacher.

Dear Tommy:

You threaten me but? You won't have to go to all the trouble of thinking of something to threaten me with now because I didn't tell you a thing at all.

I shall never forget all the fun
we have had together in the 4 years
I have known you. In safety class Judy - all, and shortland B.C. we forgot. Biology. Remember all the typing I did for you and me and we - I - to the show and
and I will never forget it as I ever will.
and your lab and I - in fact the same
I still did it. You will have written in my annual some day.

and I will. You the most of success and happiness in the navy and also in the remainder of your life. I am William
